make ___ place, is a cultural production organized by the New York Immigration Coalition (NYIC) and co-curators Eva Mayhabal Davis and Emilia Shaffer-Del Valle.

Following the mission of NYIC, the artwork presented celebrates the vital presence of immigrant communities in New York City and throughout the United States.

In make ___ place, artists engage mechanisms of storytelling, documentation, and self-care that continually assert immigrant experiences. In the following months, works by multi-disciplinary artists will broaden conversations and visually inform dialogues for visitors, members, and allies at the NYIC offices.

This cultural production aims to assert that creative response is a necessary tool for all to thrive.

In addition, make ___ place has a traveling iteration that participates in the monthly Key of the City events throughout the five boroughs.
